

To whom it may concern:

Sailing Yacht Georgia visited the Seychelles between the 21st of October 2008 and the 20th of January 2009.

During that time Alastair Maiden and SEAL superyachts were the designated ship's agents.

Alastair and his company conducted themselves in an exemplary fashion during a very busy 5 weeks of cruising and a one week charter over the Christmas holiday period

Georgia also completed four class surveys successfully using local sub-contractors, plus extensive engine room servicing that was required aboard.

During that time a lot was achieved and all aboard Georgia can say nothing but thank you to the team at SEAL superaychts for a successful visit.

The accounting for these big works was transparent and of a high standard that required little in way of adjustment- issues were dealt with as they came up at all times of the day and disputed bills were rectified.

I have no hesitation in recommending Alastair Maiden and his company for any yacht wishing to visit the Seychelles and wish them all the best for the future. If Georgia were to return to the Seychelles then I would be more than happy to employ the aforementioned company and personnel as ships agents.

Yours faithfully,

Captain Graham Wilkinson MCA Master < 3000 gt. (Yachts)
